

CROKER HAS BET $80,000

TO ABOUT $998,000, AND IS RENEWING THE STATE CAMPAIGN.

Mr. Croker's Picture Disappears From State Headquarters—Hill Here—Bryan Color Not Croker—He and O'Connell Speak for Stanchfield—Contest to Retain to Politics and Fight Croker Next Year, His Friends Say.

Richard Croker had bet up to last night $800,000 to about $998,000 that Bryan will be elected. This information was obtained from the most authoritative sources, and was announced yesterday morning shortly after Mr. Croker visited the State Headquarters at the St. James Building.

Mr. Croker said that he thought the young man of the nation was waking up to the danger in which they are and that they would soon master the situation.

Mr. Croker said that he was going to nominate young men for office this fall, said Mr. Croker. "I am not a politician, but I am a realist. I believe that the right man for the job is a young man for President, a young man for Governor and a young man for Senator and Assembly."

CROKER DOESN'T WANT $10,000 EVEN.

Louis Worman's offer of a wage for charity declined.

Louis Worman, who has been one of the largest Wall Street bettors upon the success of McKinley, had this to say yesterday:

"I am not a politician, but I am a realist. I believe that the right man for the job is a young man for President, a young man for Governor and a young man for Senator and Assembly."

Mr. Croker did not fall into the idea of a charity bet, even. He said that even though all the money which was bet on the election would be covered at the prevailing odds.

KILLED HIMSELF IN THE WALDORF.

Suicide Wanted His Family to Be Able to Collect His Life Insurance.

A man supposed to be J. C. Hays of 234 West Thirty-ninth street, went into the toilet room at the Waldorf-Astoria shortly after midnight this morning and shot himself. The boy in charge of the room called Dr. Robert Adams, the hotel physician, but the man died a few minutes afterward.

Three notes were found on the man's body. They were signed J. C. Hays. One was addressed to L. H. Roth of the Hotel St. George, Brooklyn. Another was to a friend, and a third was addressed to the Coroner. It was to the effect that he was in hard luck and without funds, so thought it was best for those he loved that he kill himself, as he had two policies of life insurance for $2,000 each. It closed by asking the Coroner to notify Mrs. J. C. Hays of 234 West Thirty-ninth street.

The suicide appeared to be about 35 years old. He was fairly well dressed. The body was removed to the West Thirtieth street police station.

Hays was a son of Gen. "Jack" Hays, who was a traveling salesman employed by J. I. Lane & Co. of 10 West street. His wife, Mrs. Hays, was a daughter of a wealthy family and was a well-known social figure.

THROUGH EARTH, NOT AIR.

FRENCH SCIENTIST'S NEW SYSTEM OF WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY.

Believes Signals Leave the Bottom and Not the Top of the Masts in the Marconi System—To Tap Earth's Electricity in Different Geological Beds by Means of Shafts.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. LONDON, Sept. 18.—A despatch from Paris to the Daily News says that M. Willot, Chief Inspector of the French Telegraphs, has communicated a paper to the Electrician's Congress indicating a belief that ether wave telegraphy, as recently practiced, has already or is about to become obsolete.

M. Willot, who is one of the leading inventors of the telegraph department and the inventor of various telegraph and telephone devices, seems to have reached the conclusion that it is the earth and not the air through which signals are transmitted without the use of wires.

The fact that neither the roundness of the earth's surface nor intervening hills intercepts the signals suggested to him the question whether the ether waves do not leave the masts at the bottom, but are sent down into the earth.

He conjectured that it left at the bottom, especially as the signaling is not affected by wind or fog, and is improved by giving the masts good electric communication with the earth.

His theory involves communicating through the electrical lines, in which the earth's electricity has the same tension, the idea being that any disturbance at one point on the same electric level creates what would naturally be called a swell in the whole level, leaving the higher and lower strata comparatively undisturbed.

The correspondent does not make the method clear, but the inference seems to be that two points, say London and Brighton, would communicate through one level and Birmingham and Bristol through another.

The French Telegraph Department has appointed a committee to sink shafts to ascertain the distribution of the electric levels. When this is done, M. Willot undertakes to construct an apparatus that will meet every case.

The correspondent makes no reference to the transmission of signals at sea.

SAYS BOERS WILL FIGHT ON.

Krugger's Companion Speaks for Him and Says He Is Still President.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. LONDON, Sept. 18.—A despatch to the Telegraph from Lorenzo Marques, dated Sept. 15, describes a visit of the correspondent of that paper to the Governor's residence for the purpose of interviewing President Krugger. The latter did not receive the correspondent, but deputized Mr. Berdell, the Transvaal Commissioner of Police, to answer questions. Mr. Krugger sat in an adjoining room with the door open. The correspondent describes him as white, shrewd and pitiable, yet a striking figure. He wore spectacles and one of his eyes was shaded.

Mr. Berdell said that Mr. Krugger had not arranged definitely to go to Europe. If he went he might return in six months. He had not resigned the Presidency of the Transvaal. Vice-President Schuyler's appointment as acting President in the President's absence was according to custom.

In reply to a question why the Boers continued fighting, Mr. Berdell said: "We are fighting for our birthright, our country. Accordingly we are compelled to fight to the drop of blood. It is not used to continue. We must fight to the bitter end. If we desert St. Helena or Ceylon is facing us. We shall fight and hope on."

Referring to Gen. Roberts's recent proclamation, Mr. Berdell said it was all wrong, adding that Gen. Roberts had not done with it in the field yet. He is not beaten yet. At the worst he may conquer us, but he will never subdue us."
